PRICE ONE CENT.

Co On Forever.

634,816 "WANTS" Printed This Year, Which Is About as Many as All the Other New York Papers

Combined Contained.

PRICE ONE CENT.

NEW YORK, TUESDAY, DECEMBER 18, 1888.

ANN O'DELIA FREE.

She Quits Blackwell's Island at 9 O'Clock This Morning.

Luther R. Marsh's Nephew Accompanied Her Over the River.

She Was Driven Off in a Cab from East Fifty-second Street,

A Long and Stern Chase by an "Evening World" Reporter.

The Medium Cannot Get Back Her Two Children.

Ann O'Delia Editha Loleta Lola Montez Salamon Messant Diss Debar, high priestess of all the spooks of Spookville, is again at large, having been set free by her host of the past six months, Warden Pillsbury, of the Hotel de Penitentiary, Blackwell's Island.

The fat priestess is now ready to invite the mmortal shades of all the illustrious de-

ANN O'DPLIA AS SHE LOOKED THIS MOBNING. parted, and is casting her eyes about for a soft spot where she can rest and paint spirit tures at reduced rates.

Princess Loleta looks coarse and flabby. When she arose from her virtuous though hard couch in cell No. 15, second floor of the workhouse, at precisely 6 o'clock this morning, she gazed with a sigh out of the little scraped her delicate skin and she shuddered. She had drawn its mate half way on when suddenly she stopped and stood up-Her eyes were riveted on a speck moving rapidly over the water. It was barely dawn, and it was some time before she was sure of what she was looking at. Then she soliloquized:

"I cannot be mistaken. It is he. It must

Then she muttered something very like cuss words, for she had made out The Even-ing World reporter crossing in a small boat to be the first to greet her when she left the Thoroughly disgusted, Ann sat down and ruminated on the bad reporters while she drew on the other half of the stocking. Other necessary articles of wearing apparel were put on, and then she donned for the last time her prison suit of striped awning goods.

Thus arrayed, she glanced at herself with some difficulty, and, seemingly satisfied, waited patiently for the signal for breakfast. It came at 6.45, and for about the 180th time she swallowed a luxurious repast of rye coffe she swallowed a luxurious repast of rye coffee and dry bread.

Then Ann, trotted complacently back to her cell. Was she not to be free in a couple of hours, and why shouldn't she indulge in pleasant thoughts?

Once more gazing out of her window, her eyes fell upon a singular spectacle. It caused her to gnash her teeth in rage. There, coming up the gravelled walk, was her devoted adherent. Douglas A. Stewart, walking in a hollow square formed by reporters, who were firing questions at him from every quarter.

This left her in a pleasant frame of mind. Meanwhite The Evening World reporter succeeded in learning from Stewart that there was a coach awaiting Ann's arrival at the foot of East fifty-second street. But not another bit of information could be gotten from him.

from bim.

It was evident that the Princess had imbued him with some of her spirit, for he never had any of his own. He is Lawyer Marsh's nephew, and he calls Ann O'Delia his devoted mother.

At 8.30 o'clock the Princess was escorted to the reception or seving your in the fourth.

At 8.30 o'clock the Princess was escorted to the reception, or sewing room in the fourth tier, where she stripped off her prison duds. Then she donned underwear of the finest quality. A rich black dress was buttoned on and a rich plush sacque, with a lace muffler, completed her apparel. A jaunty black velvet bonnet graced her queenly head and then she was ready to be weighed.

This operation was conducted in the barber shop on the ground floor, Gingerly she stepped on the weighing platform and the scales flew around to a high mark.

While all this going on Clerk Crane, in the Warden's office, was entering Ann's discharge Warden's office, was entering Ann's discharge in the big ledger.

Two envelopes lay on the desk containing her effects. These were two breastpins, one her effects. These were two breastpins, one pencil-case, a plain gold ring, 37 cents and private papers. Six other prisoners sat on a bench waiting to 1-3 discharged with "Ann O'Delia Sala-men," for such was the name she was en-men." for such was the name she was en-fered by.

The Everno World reporter entered into conversation with one of the prisoner at-taches of the office. From him he learned that Ann will take to the stage. She will ap-pear in her prison dress, and it is to be made from stuff procured from a well-known drygoods firm.

The prisoner said that he learned all this omes.

The reporter also learned that Frank Hall, the walking-match and skating-rink manager, of Philadelphia, was to be her man-

The prisoner said that Mr. Hall was at the penitentiary last night and had sent up a contract for Gen. Diss Debar to sign. That gentbaman declined, but sent down word that he would see him at 6 o'clock to-morrow night in New York.

he would see him at 6 o'clock to-morrow night in New York.

From Clerk Crane the reporter learned that a gentleman had been to see Gen. Diss Debar last night, and Crane gave an accurate description of him, leaving little room for doubt. When and where the Princess will make her debut is a mystery.

At 8.55 the Princess, with the same defiant look on her face, entered the office and received her effects, and at 8.58 she left the building a free woman.

Keeper Kennedy and the devoted Stewart secorted her to the little tug. W. H. Wickham, which lay patiently at the dock awaiting its 9 o'clock load.

The reporters brought up in the rear. Ann parting.

At the boat she turned and said to Keeper

Kennedy:
"Tell him that I will be back at 9 o'clock to-morrow morning," meaning probably that she would come back and take the General again under her wing. Gen. Diss Debar will be released to-morrow morning.

Madame then entered the after-cabin of the little tug.

THE EVENING WORLD reporter followed.

"May I congratulate you, Mme. Diss Debar on your release?" he asked rather aware of the reporter's presence,

The cabin commenced to grow positively chilly, and the scribe sought the warm air outside.

Then Stewart addressed her, and she

He shut up quickly and didn't speak another word.

At the foot of East Fifty-second street Radame and Stewart took a cab. So did THE EVENING WORLD reporter, who had fortunately engaged one beforehand.

Then commenced a chase. The route lay up Fifty-second street to Second avenue, to Fifty-sixth street, to Madison avenue, to Archbishop Corrigan's residence.

There madame got out.
So did the reporter, but he couldn't imagine what she was going there for except for absolution. He asked Stewart. He didn't know.

know.

After a while the madame came out, and after a short drive alighted at 343 West Thirty-fourth street.

This proved to be the residence of madame's lawyer, Mr. John B. Townsend.

In a few minutes the madame came out and another drive was made to the Standard Theatre building, where her other lawyer, Mr. John G. Boyd is located.

He was not in, either, and them madame was mad. She looked daggers at the reporter and whispered for some time to her driver.

As soon as she stepped in and closed the door, he whipped up his horses and dashed off.

off.

It was evident that he had received orders to lose the scribe and his cab, and the race became very hot.

Both drivers lashed their horses' sides till oam fell dripping from them.

First down one street and then another did the coaches go, and more than once did the ab spin around the corners on two of its ck of madame's cab suffered accordingly

The cabs dashed down Canal to Elm street, and through Elm to Reade. Passing the Tombs, madame looked at it dreamily. Back into Broadway, just missing a street car, the cabs went on their mad run, and down Broadway to Chambers street, where both horses were pulled up, panting and exhausted, at the Emigrant Savings Bank building.

building.

There madame alighted and entered the elevator. The reporter saw her safely in Lawyer Townsend's office.

About 1.80 o'clock Ann left Lawyer Townsend's office and got into a cab with young Stewart.

The driver whipped up his horses, and they were whirled uptown.

The General will be liberated to-morrow.

this afternoon:

Hon. Elbridge T. Gerry, President Society Prevention . Cruelty to Children. Ron. Elbridge T. Gerry, Proceedings of the County to Children.

DEAR SIR: Mrs. Dies Debar has called at my office and is now here. She has requested me to write to you and ask where her children are and when she can see them. Of course she desires to do so at the earliest convenience. Yours truly,

The reply from Mr. Gerry is as follows:

John D. Totensend, Esq.:

DEAR Sir: In reply to your letter of this date relative to the children formerly in the custody of Mrs. Diss Debar, I have simply to say that they are at the present time in good health and are being properly cared for and educated pursuant to the order of the Court. It is not deemed advisable at the present time that she should have access to them. I have the honor to remain,

President and Secretary,

Clothing Firm Accuses Them of Stealing

The members of the Fire Department who answered the alarm of fire Monday morning at 160 and 162 Crosby street, are indignant at the charges made by the firm of Hyams Brothers & Co., the clothiers who occupy the second loft, that the firemen made away with some of their property.

that the firemen made away with some of their property.

Engine Company 33 and the fire patrol located in Great Jones street were the first on the ground, and the officers of both companies declare it impossible that any members of their commands should have carried off the clothing. Yesterday Mr. Hyams claimed that three overchats had been stolen, but when an Evening Wonlo reporter called on him this morning he raised the number to seventeen.

The Fire Marshal will investigate the charges at once.

[SPECIAL TO THE EVENING WORLD.] BRIDGEPORT. Conn., Dec. 18.—H. J. Beardsley died suddenly at 1 o'clock to-day with heart disease. He was the owner of the Bridgeport and West Stratford Horse Bailroad and part owner in Beardsley & Son tugboat and dredging business. He has held contracts with the Government for several years in dredging harbors in Connecticut. He was in the bank at 11 o'clock this morning attending to business, apparently as well as usual.

Indiana Badly in Need of Money. [SPECIAL TO THE EVENING WORLD.]

THE WIFE ON HER DEFENSE.

WITNESSES TELLING THE OTHER SIDE OF THE EAMES FAMILY TROUBLE.

Carpenter Says There Were No Cracks in That Bedroom Door, but There Were Newly Bored Auger-Holes-The Vehement Testimony of a Former Servant-Another Sensational Case on Deck.

The chronicles of the day are not quite reditable to the City of Churches.

Sitting in the Brooklyn Supreme Courtroom, in which Justice Willard Bartlett is to-day listening to the unspeakable details of the marital troubles of Frank M. Eames and Emma L. Eames, his wife, were bluff Willtam F. Howe and sleek and dapper Jockey Jimmie McLaughlin.

As soon as the dirty linen of the Eames's has been thoroughly aired the case of Nelson King against Jockey McLaughlin will be iaken up, and it bids fair to be one of the most sensational of this era of sensation-

Mr. King appears as an injured husband, whose proud and sensitive heart has been damaged to the extent of $25,000, which sum he demands from the jockey for the aliena-tion of the affections of his wife, who has a house at 3 Verona place. Brooklyn, under her maiden name of Libbie Curtis, and has parded the little jockey there for more than boarded the little jockey there for more than a year.

William A. Copp of this city, is prosecuting King's claim, and they will attempt to show that the separation of McLaughlin and his wife a year ago, when he gave her $15,000 in cold cash, was caused by his intimacy with the fair wife of the plaintiff.

Mr. Howe, however, declares the prosecution to be an attempt to blackmail the jockey. Lawyer Charles J. Patterson concluded his case in behalf of Frank M. Eames yesterday afternoon, Kitty Hoye and Annie Scriven, the servants in the Eames household for two years, testifying to many questionable performances of Mrs. Eames and her young brother. George P. Hamilton.

The servants had seen them several times in most compromising situations, the details of which were related circumstantially, while twenty other women listened eagerly from seats in the auditorium.

The opening of Court this morning found twenty other women listened eagerly from seats in the auditorium.

The opening of Court this morning found another throng of people, including another score of women and two girls of not more than fifteen years, at the doors.

They were all admitted, and again they listened to most startlingly realistic relations.

For the defense, a man named Savage, who had done work in the Eames house, testified that there was no crack in the bedroom door at that house through which Annie Scriven could possibly have seen what was going on inside, as she had related, but that in November he found freely bored holes in the door.

Catharine Dorian, who was once a servant at the Eames house, testified that four times Mr. Eames had tried to prevail upon her to testify against Mrs. Eames. While she was a servant in the house Eames often inquired of her as to how his wife and George Hamilton acted together and wanted her to act as his spy on Mrs. Eames. Miss Dorian first served the Eamesses in 1894, and she related jealous acts of Eames against George Hamilton, who was then "only a little boy, playing around with Mrs. Eames's children."

Under cross-examination Miss Dorian delared that the bedroom which has her in clared that the bedroom which her her in the clared that the bedroom which her her in the clared that the bedroom which her is a clared the tree as a clared that the bedroom which her is a clared the tree the bedroom which her is a clared that the bedroom which her is a clared the tree the bedroom which her is a clared the tree the bedroom which her is a clared the testified that the bedroom which her is a clared the tree the clared the clared the clared the clared the clared with Mrs. Eames's children."

Under cross-examination Miss Dorian declared that the bedroom which has been in controversy throughout the trial was used as a sitting-room. She got full of wrath at the cross-examiner, Mr. Patterson, and almost shricked: "Don't think that I am here to be made a tool! I am telling the truth and nothing else."

She was as much of a partisan in belief

She was as much of a partisan in behalf of the wife as the other two servants had been for the husband. She declared that George had never gone into that room with Mrs. Eanes, so far as she knew. It was the only sitting-room, and had a stove in it.

The bedroom-sitting-room door was sometimes closed, but never locked, and the chil sitting-room, and had a stove in it.

The bedroom-sitting-room door was sometimes closed, but never locked, and the children were usually there.

Lawer Patterson insisting on calling this room a bedroom, and the witness just as tenaciously calling it the sitting-room, a war of words ensued, and Justice Bartlett interfered, to oblige the unfair cross-examiner to be more fair, and the hot and excited young woman shouted: "Judge, I am telling the truth, honest! I wasn't there to watch Mr. Eames or Mrs. Eamea; but I know there was no wrongdoing there."

George Hamilton sometimes left the house by the back way. He lived with his mother, next door, and by jumping the fence or passing through a hole where two pickets were out he reached his own yard.

Much ado had heretofore been made over the fact that George Hamilton had frequently left the house by the back way, clambering over a high fence, and it had been deftly insinuated that this mode of exit was adopted to evade the returning husband.

Clarence H. Clayton, of 242 West Fifty-second street, New York, next took the stand to account for the whereabouts of George Hamilton during most of the days which he was said to have spent with his sister. He was the employer of Hamilton, and stated that the youth was employed from 9 a. m. to 6 p. m. in June and July, 1887, the months in which the servants yesterday claimed that he was a daily visitor to his sister. He had a half holiday about every two months.

Hamilton's doings on July 4, 1887, the day when, according to Kitty Hoye, he and Mrs. Eames were caught by her in a most embarrassing situation, were accounted for by Alfred G. Cole, a photographer.

He testified that on that day Hamilton was with him at Fort Hamilton all day, from early morning till 8,30 in the evening, when he left him in Brocklyn.

Mrs. Eames herself next took the stand. She was wan and haggered in appearance, her lips almost blue and her form trembling with smotion as she testified in a low, musical voice. She wore a gown of bottle green Henrietta her mother's illness and of other minor details.

Then she said that in October, when Annie Scriven locates the ill behavior to which she claims to have been an eye witness, her baby was only four sweeks old, and she was then and for a month after in very poor health.

"George called every morning," said the witness. "He came to get toast which I fixed for my mother, who was then very sick and had no nurse or help.

"My brother George came into my bedroom, of course, at these times. But my

"I always was very careful to leave my bering what I did.

"I always was very careful to leave my doors open, because I had been so much questioned by my husband about my relations with my brothers, William and George, I think he began to question me about William in 1881, just about when my oldest boy was born." Death of a Well-Known Banker. Mr. Abraham Limburger, of the firm of Ladenburg. Thalmanu & Co., died at his residence, it fast fixty-fifth street, at 2 o'clock this morning.

Forster's Faueral.

recting the payment of $616 funeral expenses of the Board of Aldermen in connection with the

the Board of Aldermen in connection with the funeral of the late President of the Board, Geo. H. Forster.

After enumerating the items, $05 for crape badges, $06 for carriages, and $155 for gloves for twenty-three Aldermen, the Mayor says:

"There was no reason why the Board of Aldermen should provide carriages when there was no procession, and there is no more reason why they should be furnished with gloves at the public expense than the other mourners at the funeral.

"The Mayor found no difficulty himself in attending the funeral without a carriage and without the habiliments of woe in which the Board of Aldermen indulged themselves. If those evidences of grief were necessary they should have been supplied at the expense of the mourners and not of the city."

He Makes a Little Scene in the Court of Oyer and Terminer.

What is likely to be the closing day of the trial of Ferdinand Carolin for wife murder began to-day in Oyer and Terminer by the production on the stand of several witnesses who testified to the good character of the accused previous to the crime.

One of them, Oscar Zimmerman, said that all of Carolin's relatives were crazy, particularly a cousin, who struck a woman and then tried to hang himself.

The Decision Angered Fell, Who Struck the Referee, and a General Melee Followed.

Wis., says: A most brutal prize-light occurred here last night between James Fell, champion of Michigan, and J. W. Curtis, of Duluth.

In the seventh round both sides claimed a foul, and the referee declared the fight a draw, whereupon Fell struck him in the face. The andience then imped into the ring and a general melee took place.

A BANKRUPT'S SUICIDE.

Tailor Jacobs Shoots Himself After the Sheriff Sells His Stock.

Morris Jacobs, forty-seven years old, of 19 East One Hundred and Tenth street, shot himself dead at his home this morning. He was a tailor, doing business at 114 Fulton treet.

Two weeks ago Jacobs failed. His store was closed, and last Wednesday the stock was sold at Sheriff's sale. An employee said this morning that Mr. Jacobs's indebtedness amounted to $25,000.

John Lappe, fifteen years old, of Eighty-eighth street and Avenue B, who is charged with causing the death of Charles P. Britton, aged twelve years, of 337 East Eighty-fifth street, by striking him on the head with a stone, was held in $3,000 bail by Justice Welde in the Harlem Court to-day.

The Quotations.

ch., Topeks & Santa Fe	D4354	5034	5674
unswick Land	14%	1494	14%
unada Southern eve., Col., Cin. & Ind	5150	D136	5174
eve., Col., Cin. & Ind.,	50%	00%	0.5%
licago Gas Trust	,39,	100	.39.
ic., Burl & Quiney	1000	197%	19714
nicago & Northwest	10514	100	105%
Heago, Mil. a bt. Pattl.	T (1007)	.0334	.638
nicago, Mil. & St. Paul ofd, nicago, Rock Island & Pacific	10256	10215	1000
neago & Eastern Illinois	4134	7433	96%
icago & Eastern Illinois pfd	9479	0412	23429
n., Ind., St. Louis & Chicago	8086	8932	1000
d. & Hocking Valley	2412	5412	8712
meron Coal	2202	0.962	840
olorado Coal & Iron	3112	3112	3112
siaware, Lackawanna & Western	139	13042	13887
slaware & Hudson	128	TUNIZ	19742
siaware & Hudson est Tenn., Va. & Ga. 2d pfd	2450	2441	2412
mois Central	114	114	114
ngston and Pembroke	2734	27%	2734
ke Shore. ke Erie & Western pfd	100	100	111194
ke Erie & Western pfd		50%	50
uisville & Nashville	9:1.	0.126	54%
emphis and Charleston	22719	22719	5924
securi Pacific	7139	2.124	70%
ssouri, Kansas & Tex	13%	1336	1394
ssour, Kansse & Tex.  w Jersey Central.  w York Central.  Y & New England.  Y. Lake Erie & Western.  Y. Lake Erie & Western pfd.  Y. Susq. & Western.  Y. Susq. & Western.  Y. Susq. & Western.  Tolk & Western.	10.75	10796	.93.
V A New England	4662	4112	1978
V Lake Erin & Western	2662	2692	33(25)
Y Lake Frie & Western pfd	AY.	61	580
Y., Susq. & Western	1014	One	667
Y., Susq. & Western pfd	3012	2022	200
rfolk & Western pfd	5662	5092	4012
	5837	Links	58
tio & Minaissippi	21	2117	21
itario Mining	33	33	33
egon Transcontinental	2996	2014	2874
egon Improvement pfd		103	103
egon Short Line	5554	44%	4454
pe Line Certificates	9196	19176	9134
iladelphia & Reading	25179	2014	2774
ch & West Point Ter.	N30	2379	2716
ch. & West Point Ter. ch. & West Point Ter. pfd Paul & Omaha. Paul & Omaha	Sau	2379	27.
Paul & Omaha nfd	100	100	25325
Paul & Duluth	37	3214	350294
Paul, Minn, & Manitoba	öö.	20012	Sale
Paul, Minn. & Manitoba. Louis & San Francisco pfd	6536	6512	200
Iss Pacific	2197	2112	35Y (2)
nn. Coal & Iron	34	3442	34
nion Pacific	62%	61237	6234
ab., St. Louis & Pacific.	13	13	13
ab., Nt. Louis & Pacific ofd	94	224	D.A.

New York Markets. WHEAT.—May opened weak at $1.11, $6c, below last night's closing. After advancing to $1.114 the quotation fell to $1.115, at which it was quoted at noon. Jan. opened at $1.05%; March, $1.086; June. $1.10%. Liverpool

March, $1.0895; June, $1.109. Liverpool quiet.
COTTON—Opened steady at 1 point decline.
Dec., 9.47; Jan., 9.50; Feb., 9.63; March, 9.75; April. 9.87; May, 9.97; June, 10.07;
July, 10.14; Aug., 10.19. Liverpool quiet.
COFFEE—Opened firm, 10 to 20 points off.
Dec., 14.50; Jan. and Feb., 14.60; March, 14.65; April and May, 14.70; June and July, 14.75; April and May, 14.70; June and July, 14.75; Ang., Sept. and Oct., 14.80; Nov., 14.90. Hamburg quiet. Havre firm.
PETROLEUM.—Certificates opened unchanged at 01:5c., and declined to 915c. At noon the quotation had recovered to the opening figure. Market dull.

Fair, Colder and High Winds WASHINGTON, Dec. 18.

toesterly toinds, very

The Weather To-Day. Indicated by Blakely's tele-thermometer 1888, 1887. 1888, 1887. 1888. 1887. 1888. 1887. 1888. 1887. 1888. 1887. 1888. 1887. 1888.

For many years the manufacturers of Da. Sack's Catarbal liment, who are thoroughy responsible financially, as any one can casily ascertain by inquiry, have offered through nearly every newspaper in the land a standing reward of $500 for a case of chronic measu catarth, no matter how bad, or of how long standing, which they cannot cure. The remedy is mild, soothing, cleansing, antiseptic and healing. Bold by all druggists at 50 cents.

BATTLE

Whites and Blacks Ready to Fight at Wahalak.

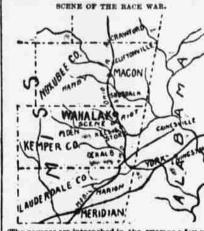

All Mississippi Aroused Over the Bitter Race War.

Negroes Intrenched in a Swamp Awaiting an Attack.

News of a Decisive Conflict Is Expected Every Minute.

[SPECIAL TO THE EVENING WORLD, ] Columbus, Miss., Dec. 18.-The wildest excitement provails throughout the eastern section of the State over the race riot five miles from Wahalak, in Kemper County.

The latest advices from the scene state that the negroes to the number of 600 have retreated to the swamps and are fortifying themselves and sparing no effort to resist to the last any attack. They have an abundant skets, shotguns and pistols.

Beyond a doubt there are now 400 whites pathered in and around Wahalak, and they are bent upon avenging the murderous attack night played havoc along the line of the Norfolk on Constable Cobb's posse. They are armed to the teeth with Winches-er rifles, shotguns and side arms. That the whites will soon advance upon the wamps there is not a shadow of doubt, and the result will be fearful.

News of a battle is momentarily expected but the telegraph facilities at Wahalak are poor and the only wire to that point this morning was not in good order.

A company of riflemen here is ready to proceed to the battle-ground, but have not yet received orders from the Governor.

THE CAUSE OF THE TROUBLE. Politics has nothing whatever to do with this outbreak. It seems that yesterday even-ing two boys, one white, the other colored, got into a nght. Tom Nicholson, the father of the white boy, attempted to separate them, when Maury, the father of the negro, jumped on him and beat him in the most brutal man-

Mr. Nicholson swore out a warrant against Maury which was placed in the hands of the constable, who found him with quite a crowd of other negroes barricaded in a house.

The crowd refused to pay any attention to the officer or his warrant and defied the law, saying Maury should not be arrested. Not satisfied with defying the law they attacked the officer and beat him severely before they would allow him to go. He returned to the town and summoned a posse of twelve men, who proceeded at once to the point where the negroes were fortified, to demand the surrender of Maury.

The negroes, however, had abandoned their house and were secreted in the woods near by, and, as the constable with his posses neared the house they were fired upon from the ambush.

Constable Cobb and four of his posse fell dead at the first volley, and there was only one man in the twelve who escaped unhurt, some of them being very seriously wounded. The whites, seeing that they were only a handful compared to the large crowd of negroes who were opposed to them and who numbered several hundred, retreated, leaving their dead on the field, and followed by jeers and shouts of the black murderers, who were armed to the teeth and had used double-barelled shotguns with such deadly effect on the officers of the law.

Upon the return of the remnant of the posse to the town the scene was one of the wildest excitement.

The situation was telegraphed to the neigh-

The situation was telegraphed to the neigh boring towns and preparations were at once made to attack the negroes as soon as reinorcements arrived.

A special train was made up at Meridian with about seventy-five determined men on board, and left for the scene of the conflict. This number was increased at every station along the road.

No engine could be had north of Wahalak No engine could be not north of wainiak to take a special train, but preparations were made at all points to get on the evening train. Telegrams were sent from various points and preparations are being made at aimost every place along the line to send squads of armed men to the rescue.

A White Man Said to Have Been Killed b Negroes-Two Other Cases.

[SPECIAL TO THE EVENING WORLD.] Bamberg and the surrounding community are in a fever of excitement over the report that Mr. Robert Morris, who lives nine miles south of there, was captured by a band of negroes last night and probably murdered.
It is said that his brother, J. M. Morris, and John McMillan had a difficulty with some ne-gross yesterday, and that last night they discovered that their home was being surrounded by colored men, who were making threats covered that their home was being surrounded by colored men, who were making threats against their lives.

They all left the house and went in different directions to arouse their neighbors and secure assistance, appointing a time and place for meeting.

The nearest neighbors were aroused by J. M. Morris and John McMillan, and they then went to the appointed place for meeting Robert Morris and gaze the signal which had been agreed upon. No response came, and up to the present no news of the whereabouts or fate of Robert Morris can be had. It is believed that young Robert Morris was captured and murdered by the infuriated negroes.

Several young men from town have gone to the scene of excitement, and will use every means possible to find the missing young man.

Yesterday can well be called bloody Monday. In addition to the Bamberg affair there was a shooting scrape at Hlackville, in which Luther Dewitt seriously wounded a colored man named Tyler.

At Newbory J. W. M. Simmons, cashier of

At Newbury J. W. M. Simmons, cashier of the National Bank, killed Nelson Worthy, col-

TWAS QUITE A STORM. Bundreds of Houses Flooded Along the

[SPECIAL TO THE EVENING WORLD.] SCRANTON, Pa., Dec. 18.-High water caused the Lackawanna River to overflow during the night, flooding hundreds of house on the Scrauton, Diamond and Providence flats, carrying away barns and outbuildings, and causing great damage. People were forced to leave their homes in many cases by

At Pleasant Valley a portion of the Lebigh track was carried away, and in this city more than a mile of the Jersey Central track was torn away, while a part of the Delaware and Hudson suffered a similar loss. The total damage will reach many thousand dollars.

SIGHTED IN A HEAVY GALE. News Comes of One of the Long Overdue

Coconnut Vessels. The fate of the coconnut vessels Frederick Schepp and Nile, which are now nearly two weeks overdue from Aspinwall, is still doubtful, though a ray of hope has come to the owners today. The Belgian steamer Kepler, from Ric Janeiro, just arrived, reports that at 8 a. M. on Thursday last, in latitude 9, 40 south, longitude 34,35, she passed a white two-masted topsai schooner going north in a heavy gale. Mr. Schopp said that this white two-masted schooner was undoubtedly the Frederick Schepp and bases his belief on the fact that she was in the line of her regular route from Aspinwall. As to the 1,000,000 cocoanuts, Mr. Schepp said he was afraid they had been thrown overboard.

Heavy Rains Cause Washouts and Delays [SPECIAL TO THE EVENING WORLD. PUTNAM, Conn., Dec. 18.-The heavy rains that have fallen for the past twenty-four hours

The New England limited express was disched at East Thompson last night, but as far as can be learned, no great damage resulted. There was a delay of twelve hours. Trees Uprooted in Virginia. [SPECIAL TO THE EVENING WORLD.]
PETERSBURG, Va., Dec. 18.—The storm last have caused numerous washouts in this section and Western Railroad. Trees were uprooted and blown across the track and trains greatly delayed. Trestle Carried Away by the Storm

[SPECIAL TO THE EVENING WORLD.] GREENFIELD, Mass., Dec. 18.—The trestle work over the Deerfield River, on the Fitchburg Railroad at the east portal of the tunnel was

BAD LOANS BY THE CASHIER.

The California National Bank Suspende Payment-No Loss to Depositors. INPECIAL TO THE EVENING WORLD. 1 yesterday. It was given out at the time that the suspension was caused by the "irregularities" on the part of Cashier Ramsden. This morning it is stated that the termed "ir regularities" are not of a criminal nature, consisting principally of bad loans.

The bank was incorporated in 1886 as a joint stock organization, with a capital of $1,000, 000, of this amount $200,000 was subscribed in coin.

The loss to the bank on the bad loans, &c., are not y known.

H. P. Thomas, President, says the bank has sufficient funds to insure all their depositors against loss.

At the Clearing House this morning an Even's No Wonto reporter was told that the last subside the statement of the California National Bank, received a few days ago, showed a capital of $200,000, with a surplus of $000.

President Henry W. Cannon, of the Chase National Bank, said: "The California National Bank was organized between two and three years ago and kept an account with this bank since it was started. We considered the bank in good credit until a few weeks ago. Their account at that time began to be somewhat unsatisfactory, and we had written them to close it out unless they kept a better balance. They had with us this morning a few thousand dollars and are not indebted to us in any way.

"We have no personal acquaintance with Mr. Ramsden, the cashler, but have frequently heard him well spoken of by San Francisco friends and are surprised to learn that he is suspected of irregularities."

Senator Quay Will Soon Know Mr. Harrison (SPECIAL TO THE EVENING WORLD.)
PITTSBUEG, Pa., Dec. 18.—Senator Quay, his son Richard, and Thomas Britton, of the Inauguration Committee, passed through the city this morning en route to Indianapolis. Mr. Britton will confer with Gen. Harrison relative to final arrangements for the inauguration, while Mr. Quay will talk with the General about his Cabinet. He admitted that he would push the claims of John Wansmaker for a place in the Cabinet. The party will arrive at Indianapolis at 10.30 to-night.

A Michigan Town Swept by Flames. MARQUETTE, Mich., Dec. 18,—An Iron Monntain special says: "Fire broke out in the store of Silverman, Davis & Levy, general merchandise, at 1.30 this morning. The wind was blowing a gale, and at 3 o'clock the entire block was in ashes. The flames were spreading rapidly, and it looked as if the entire business portion of the city was doomed. The loss will be at least $100,000."

Clifton Entries for To-Morrow

CLIPTON RACE TRACE, N.J., Dec. 18,—Following are the entries for Thursday, Dec. 19: ing are the entries for Thursday, Dec 19:
First Race-Purse $250; one mile.—Harrodsburg, 118; Relax, 115; Friar, 115; Charley Arnold, 115;
Alex, T., 116; Friar 115; Charley Arnold, 115;
Alex, T., 116; Ten Strike, 115; Byrnwood, 115; Grantie, 115; Jennie McFarland, 115; Byrnwood, 115; Gransile, Mance-Purse $250; seven furiongs; soling allowances.—George Curbett, 107; Wheat, 107; Bay Ridge, 101; Mazie, 86; Jack Cocks, 86; Gambetta, 86; B.

Third Race-Purse $250; seven-eightha of a mile selling allowances.—Anomaly, 107; Lettle Mickey, 101;
Lorris, 36; Gracte, 86; Slumber, 86; Hilds, 86; b.
Fourth Race-Purse $250; mile and an eighth; selling allowances.—Bonania, 110; Souvenir, 107; Clay Pate, 105; Quincy, 107; Easterbook, 198; Full Sall, 36;
Futh Race-Purse $500; six and ens-half furionas;
selling allowances.—Bishop, 110; Received, 105;
Capulin, 105; Fridga, 105; Wahoe, 105; Goscola, 105; Receive, 57; Re 60, 82; Servis, 821b.

PRICE ONE CENT.

IN A BRUTE'S GRASP.

Pretty Miss Talbert Roughly Treated and Robbed.

Avenue in Daylight.

The Thief Is Pursued, but Escapes-Arrest of a Colored Janitor.

Miss Elizabeth Talbert, daughter of Benamin G. Talbert, of the firm of John H. Davis & Co., brokers at 10 Wall street, was the victim of a bold highway robbery, committed in broad daylight, yesterday. Miss Talbert was returning to her home, at 132 West Twenty-second street, from a church society meeting at One Hundred and Twentyfirst street and Madison avenue, at 4.30 P. M.,

The two young ladies walked to One Hundred and Twenty-fifth street, and through that street to Lenox avenue. It was raining very hard, and at the corner of Lenox avenue and One Hundred and Here her companion left her, and Miss pulled down and held over her face, and she felt a grasp on her portmanteau, which she held in her hand. Miss Talbert resisted the attempt to rob her, but was again pushed violently and the pocketbook was wrenched from her hand.

arrested the fello San Francisco. Dec. 18.—The California nized as the janitor of a flat house in East One Hundred and Twenty-seventh street.

book in the negro janitor's quarters.

JONES AND HIS WIVES. He Is Held for Embezzlement and Wife

No. 2 Gives Him Up. The amorous Harry Morris Jones, alias Hanry F. Jefferson, alias Byron, was the cynosure of all eyes in Jefferson Market Court this morning. Both his wives were there, also his again mother. Jones is a blond young man of medium blue eyes and a nice curly bang. He was dressed neatly, a black chinchilla overcoat covering his under-dress.

Wife No. 1 sat immediately behind her faith-height, with a smooth, pale face, clear, dark

She is plain-looking, rather slight in stature,

and remains the market and the market

hearing scraps of conversation

The reporters brought up in the rear. Ann O'Delia turned once and waved a white hand-kerchief at the building. It was a sort of final farewell, but there was no sorrow in the gingerly.

The reporter awaited an answer, and receiving none, repeated the question. Not by a word or a look did she let on that she was snapped:

"You shut up and mind your own business,"
He shut up quickly and didn't speak sperture, called by courtesy a window, on the turbulent waters of the East River, fringed by the stunted willows near the water's edge.

Her sigh was a large one as might be expected, and she heaved a second as she drew pected, and she heaved a second as she drew the second as she drew pected.

and then, with madame and Frank Hall, a good trio, it is said that the lectures will be arranged.
The following correspondence took place

The reply from Mr. Gerry is as follows :

FIREMEN ARE INDIGNANT.

H. J. Beardsley, of Bridgeport, Dead.

Curcago. Dec. 18.—A special from Indian apolis says the State Treasurer is badly in need of funds, and the Legislature will have to bor row about $2,000,000 to carry the State through for the next two years.

THE MAYOR VETOES IT.

He Objects to the Aldermen's Bill at Mr.

Mayor Hewitt has vetoed the resolution

MURDERER CAROLIN EXCITED.

hang himself.
At this point the prisoner exclaimed, excitedly, in German: "You're a liar! You're a liar! He says that my cousin killed a woman. He lies!"
Judge Van Brunt directed an officer to put a hand to Carolin's mouth if he did not keep quiet.
Dr. John G, Truax testified that he had examined Carolin and found him perfectly sane. The prisoner's counsel then began his address to the jury.

CURTIS AND FELL FIGHT A DRAW.

SPECIAL TO THE EVENING WORLD ! CHICAGO, Dec. 18.—A special from Eau Claire, Wis., says: A most brutal prize-fight oc-

Held for Killing Little Britten.

American Cotton Oil 5316 54 5316 Atch., Topeks & Santa Fe 5416 5416 5416

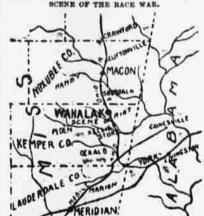

Washington, Dec. 18,

- Weather indications:

For Eastern New

York - Fair, preceded in northern New York
by snow; colder; north-

$500 or a Cure.

The negroes are intreached in the swamps a few mile from Wahalak.) supply of ammunition, and are armed with

FIVE WHITE MEN KILLED.

The news of the slaughter caused intense excitement wherever it was known. Offers of assistance came from all quarters, WHITES HURBY TO THE SCENE

TROUBLE IN SOUTH CAROLINA,

Confronted by a Negro in Lenox accompanied by a young lady friend.

Twenty-fourth street they stopped for a while under the awning of Hawkins Bros. grocery store. Talbert proceeded alone. She had reached the corner of Lexington avenue and One Hundred and Twenty-third street when she was rudely pushed from behind, her umbrella

As soon as he had secured the object of his attack the young lady's assailant ran west on attack the young lady's assailant ran west on One Hundred and Twenty-third street as fast as he could, and the plucky little woman rushed after him screaming for help.

He cries were so piercing as to cause the robber to return and threaten her.

She then for the first time saw that he was a burly negro.

He came up to her in a threatening manner and said: "What's the matter with you? You'd better shut up or I'll fix you."

Thoroughly frightened, Miss Talbert hurried back to the grocery store and told of the robbery.

Two men who were in the store started in pursuit, but the negro had disappeared.

In the pocketbook which the thief wrenched from Miss Talbert's hand was $10 in money and a gold thimble, which the young lady prized very highly.

Accompanied by her father, she went to the East One Hundred and Twenty-sixth street station-house to make complaint, and there they were surprised to learn that a negro had been arrested for making an assault on another young lady in Fifth avenue at about 5 o'clock that evening.

This time there was a policeman in sight, and Patrolman Edward Darcy, after a hard chase, arrested the fellow, whom he recognized as the janitor of a flat house in East

One Hundred and Twenty-seventh street, near Lexington avenue.

On his way to the station-house the negro tripped up the officer and escaped, but the two precinct detectives arrested him later in the flats of which he is janitor, after a hardfight, in which clubs were trumps and the best hands were held by the officers.

This fellow was brought out of his cell and paraded with the bandaged head before Miss Talbert, but, although his voice was like that of her assailant, she could not positively identify him because of his battered appearance.

carance. The negro was held in the Harlem Police Court this morning and Capt. Westervelt has ordered a search for Miss Talbert's pocket-

less spouse, beside her mother-in-law, and wept copiously.

She is plain-looking, rather slight in stature, with sharp features.

Mrs. Jones No. 2 slias Jefferson alias Byron sat on the same bench with No. 1 and but a few feet from her. She is a tall, handsome branette, with a pair of big, sparking black cloth. She wore a stylish, close-fitting black cloth cloak, and beneath it a handsomely braided dull sreen dress of some costly fabric.

While waiting for the case to be called Jones received lots of attention from his wives. First No. 1 would get up, dry her weeping syes and, putting her gloved hand softly ou Jones's arm, would whisper earnestly in his ear, he responding by nods and a few words.

No. 1 winterview over, No. 2 would take an inning, and so it went on until both women had said all that circumstances would permit.

Twice the young man's mother aross and spoke to him.

It was understood the wives would not prefer any charges.

The affidavit of the prisoner's employer, Mr. Lane, charging Jones with embezzlement in failing to turn over $100 to his employer the day he skipped away, was read by Judge Ford, and Lawyer Waring waived examination for the prisoner. Bail was fixed at $500 and Jones warelegated to a dungeon before his wives could bid him good-by.

Mrs. Jones No. 1 showed Tre Evenine Word, No. 2 said to the reporter that she wanted Jones to go back to his first wife and child; that she wanted Jones to go back to his first wife and child; that she wanted Jones to go back to his first wife and child; that she wanted Jones to go back to his first wife and child; that she wanted Jones to go back to his first wife and child; that she wanted Jones to go back to his first wife and child; that she wanted Jones to go back to his first wife and child; that she wanted young the provide she would never interfers with them.

She said she did not belong in New Jersey, but in a large city in Ohio, where she was highly connected.

Rhe thought she had been grievously wronged but she loved Jones as was willing to fortive him, though she could leave the city t